Soon our efforts on the '65 Redbird will have come to a climactic conclusion. For this year, as the school year ends, so ends the yearbook.

We hope that you will gather from this book many cherishable experiences in the years to come.

Because of his untiring devotion to the purposes of education and continuing patience undeserved by our students, we are proud to dedicate this, the '65 Redbird, to Mr. Harris Voegeli.

As a classroom instructor and advisor of the CARDINAL, he has been willing at all times to help individuals solve their problems, whether personal or educational.

For your understanding and long-suffering, Mr. Voegeli, we thank you and wish you great successes for the future.

Monsieur Ardin, the imaginary invalid, is thoroughly a hypochondriac. His daughter, Angelique, is in love with a young man by the name of Cleante. But Ardin insists that she shall marry a man of his choosing, the son of a doctor, Thomas Defois, himself a doctor.

Toinette, the maid, and Beralde, Ardin's brother, do everything possible to dissuade Ardin in his determination to marry Angelique to the stupid Thomas. They are fond of Angelique, and, to further her cause and clinch her affair with Cleante, they ridicule Ardin and his doctors in every conceivable way, trying to show up Ardin's folly and the doctors' stupidity.

Beline, Ardin's shrewish wife is determined that Angelique shall become a nun so that there will be no one but she, Beline, to inherit Ardin's estate.

By many tricks, Toinette and Beralde show up Beline as the mercenary she is and the doctors as the fools they are. They succeed in getting Ardin's consent for the marriage of Angelique and Cleante, and, in the end, they persuade Ardin to become a doctor himself.

Our Town Staged by Class of '64

ROW II: Karen Pomplun, Joan Finney, Patty Dahl, Jill Schimke, Terry Young, Denny Schimke, Olive Young, Mary Sizer, Deb Vick, Carol Kosel. Our Town depicts the life of a New Hampshire village—with its humor, picturesqueness and pathos—set against a background of centuries of time, social history, and religious ideas. The play begins in 1901 in Grover's Corners where the Gibbs and the Webbs are neighbors. During their childhood George Gibbs and Emily Webb are playmates and their lives are inextricably woven together as neighbors' lives are likely to be. But as they grow older they pass from this period into a state of romantic but embarrassed interest in one another. And one day George proposes to Emily in the drug store. But their happiness is short-lived, for Emily is taken in death and placed in the village cemetery on a rainy, dreary day. In a vitally moving scene is shown the peace and quiet of death which can never be understood by the living.

Elwood P. Dowd is a 47 year old bachelor who has created an image of a 6 foot white rabbit named "Harvey." He and Harvey are the best of friends, and the rabbit follows him everywhere. Veta Louise Simmons, Elwood's sister, attempts to commit Elwood to a mental institution because under the circumstances Myrtle Mae Simmons, Veta's daughter, cannot meet any men. Whenever Veta and Myrtle Mae have a party, Elwood appears and introduces his invisible rabbit to the guests. While Veta is trying to have Elwood committed, a mistake is made and Dr. Lyman Sanderson, Miss Ruth Kelly, R.N., and Dr. Wm. R. Chumley have Veta committed instead. Judge Omar Gaffney acts as Veta's lawyer in a law suit filed against the sanitarium.

The final scene finds Veta willing to accept "Harvey" as a member of her household after being told by E. J. Lofgren, the cab driver, what could happen to Elwood if he was treated by the doctors at the sanitarium.

LaMOURE: In the season opener, we met difficult competition against a team who finished second in conference play. EDGELEY: Tom Maier scored on a three yard plunge while Edgeley scored their lone TD on a 55 yard pass play. KULM: Cress Gackle starred with a 15 yard run around left end for our TD. ENDERLIN: The Cardinals held the number one team in the conference to the lowest score of its conference play. ASHLEY: Anticipation of victory ran high as we entered the game, but ran head-on into an individual by the name of Gary Vossler, who scored all of Ashley's TD's. OAKES: A similar situation occurred here, when Tom Ahlin scored four TD's for the opposition. SARGENT CENTRAL: Cress Gackle started our scoring in the game by running 50 yards for a TD. Hokana later scored on a pass play, with Maier following up with a yard plunge in the third quarter.

In summary, the team appeared to play best when confronted with the most difficult of competition, indicating a squad with spirit and drive, and a squad of which EHS can be very proud.
